Government will create «structure» to manage housing in the country

The cabinet declines the two amendments of the law to promote and support rents in the country

UL + ILM wants changes in the automatic tax information exchange to help real estate

-REALISTIC-MEASURES // Faced with the accusations of low effectiveness of the urgent measures, Minister Espot stated that: «We do not propose artificial fireworks (miracles), but realistic and balanced measures that can be implemented.»

The fact that the liberals abstained in the vote to move forward the amendment to the whole PS was perceived by DA as an indication of the pact to compete together. The Social Democrats and the LA also rushed to deny the situation and the latter emphasized that they also abstained from the proposal of UL + ILM. The proposal of the PS only received the support of its three advisers, while that of UL + ILM had the vote of its directors, plus those of the PS, eight in total.
DA does not want councilors in commerce commission

PS wanted to support the idea of monitoring the state of the sector

A (the democrats party) expressed yesterday its refusal to create a commerce tracking commission in the country as proposed by the PS through a motion and with the aim of dealing with concrete measures and disagreements with the crisis in the sector. The counselor of DA Patricia Riberaygus justified the position with the argument that “this should not be the function of the mayor.” She also made an exhaustive review of all the other ways of affecting the trade policies that the directors have, such as through the legislative commissions of Economy or Tourism. Only the counselor for SDP Victor Naudi supported those of DA but with a different motivation, as he said that “trying to boost trade in four months after finishing the legislation is electoral” and also considered that this should be an “attachment of the Executive.”

The cabinet modifies the transfers according to the Constitutional opinion

Martí regrets the change of direction in the vote of some councilors and refers “to the acts”

The cabinet recently approved the modification of the law of transfers approved last October to incorporate a new financing formula with a fixed allocation of 600,000 euros explained the Minister of Economy and Competitiveness, Gilbert Saboya before everyone present in the meeting. In addition, the head of the Economy sector also explained that the financing will be complemented by a variable contribution that will be obtained from 10% of the rates of the register of net growth of trades in the country. In addition, Saboya explained that the law includes the control and audit of the chamber by the Court of Auditors. The reform of the law not only aims at changes in the financing world, but also in the operation and grants to the organization “new attributions in the field of mediation and conciliation to improve the business climate and has a social weight and not only economic” stated Saboya. According to the minister, the immediate main initiatives of the chamber that must be possible thanks to the new financing are the development of an Andorra quality label, as well as the diagnosis of the points of sale to make them more competitive. “It would be ideal to have ad hoc aid plans for each business” the minister said.

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION REFORM

Edict to regulate the Public Service law despite the rejection of the text

The unions accuse the Government of "manipulating"

The Government's desire to move forward with the reform of the Public Administration seems clear. And more so if we take into account that the edict that was published last Wednesday in the BOA to convene an international public tender for technical advice to develop and regulate the horizontal professional career and the evaluation of the performance in the Public Administration. All this while the unions made a public statement signed this week by all the members of the Trade Union Platform, which accused the Government of "manipulating" and wanting to "demolish" civil servants.

As the same Government confirmed to EL PERIÓDIC, technical advice is sought to develop the regulations that are related to the new law (which is still in the period of amendments) and which must determine how the evaluation of the performance and horizontal professional career are regulated. The Executive reminded that this step is one of the commitments that were acquired with the trade union representatives in order to reduce the regulation from one year to six months so that the new remuneration system and specifically the bonus of career and the productivity supplement can be implemented as soon as possible. Thus, the announcement is made "in anticipation that the Law of the Civil Service will be approved before the end of the term." A goal that goes hand in hand with that of civil servants.

The Government wants to accelerate the works to develop the regulations related to the new law

CRITICISMS / The anger of the unions with the Government is once again monumental and it is clear in Tuesday's statement given by the Union Platform. In the document, they conclude that the meeting with the parliamentary group of DA only had the objective "to manipulate once again and demonize once again a group as essential as easily criticizable.

The signers contend that "they think we are dummies" and reiterate the announcement is made "in anticipation that the Law of the Civil Service will pass with the quinquennial regime and leaving them unprotected from an incapacitating illness. And they warn Cinca not to say that when negotiating the two parties must give in because you have not accepted any of the union proposals."

The Fira celebrates its 40th edition with two surprises

The capital hosts its great event on 26, 27 and 28 October

The last weekend of October will be held the most special edition of the Fira of Andorra la Vella. And this year it celebrates its 40th edition, which, along with the Polibet de Nadal, demonstrates its maximum consolidation among the events that are organized in the capital. At least, this is what the Mayor, Conxita Marsol, considers, who in the presentation of the event made Thursday morning explained that the Fira "has seen the evolution of the country and has evolved with it." In order to celebrate the fortieth, the corporation is organizing two surprises, although no details have been given. Marsol explained that there will be a show in the tent and that the stand of the comis will be an interactive space, which, through the new technologies, will allow us to have a good view of these 40 years of the Fira's history. In total, there will be 200 exhibitors in 10,000 square metres, informed the councillor of Tourism and Commercial Promotion of the comis, Monica Codina. These figures are similar to those of last year, like the budget allocated to the organization, which is about 300,000 euros. Marsol predicted that there will be about 70,000 people, that is, "the whole country."

EXHIBITION SPACE / Although the comis considers that the space for the Fair is "sufficiently sized," the Mayor said that for the next term in office it should be considered to have a permanent exhibition space. She also assured that the Fira tent will be completely disassembled by the All Saints day holidays.

The prisoner was released for health reasons to make some medical tests in Spain

The prisoner confirmed an inmate has not returned to prison

The minister of Social Affairs, Justice and Home Affairs, Xavier Espot, confirmed yesterday that a prisoner who had been released for health reasons has not returned to Correlia's penitentiary centre, as expected, after having travelled to Spain. Now, an ongoing investigation will clarify if that person has escaped or his non-return is justified. In the event that it is confirmed that this person has fled, the international search mechanisms would be activated, since, as Espot pointed out, he would be neging on the return court order. The head of Justice has remarked that these are the «undesirable consequences» of the fact that there is no bilateral agreement with neither Spain nor France, which, in this particular case, would have allowed the police forces in Spain to have accompanied this person and monitor constantly. Espot has re-iterated the need for many years placed on the table of neighbouring states this agreement but has specified that it is a complex issues, which, for example, in the case of Spain is a responsibility of different institutions. In any case, he assured that the principal will continue insisting to sign these agreements. It seems that the prisoner, who would be in pretrial detention for a drug affair, would have left Tuesday to have some tests made related to what could be a serious illness and that could not be done in Andorra and would not have returned when planned.
Navarro is self-critical and warns Vitali for his low performance

The injuries of Luz and Walker accentuate the problems of MoraBanc regarding their outer game

MoraBanc Andorra’s manager, Joan Navarro, made self-criticism this week for the team’s final results and was especially forceful with the performance of Michele Vitali, since he wants him to be a “solid player, we believe he has to be present.” In this regard, he added that the player is playing against very strong defenses that are preventing him from playing comfortably, and that he must be able to adjust to a referees that has nothing to do with that of the Italian league. “If his energies come from scoring, it is obvious that he will not have much, so we insist that it must be the other way around,” reiterated Navarro. “He must have confidence in attack, he must know that the team trusts him,” he added, adding that “not everything depends on whether or not he scores, he must be able to do more.” “We have to find the way for him to return to his game because it is clear that if we look at his mistakes, his shots don’t touch the rim,” he continued. “It is clear that if we look at his mistakes, he makes mistakes, this would be a compensation. This is a role sport,” and that “if no one-size fits all, there is always a part that is the manager’s fault” and said that “it is the manager’s fault”. “We have to make a mind clearing to improve, we have to correct our mistakes, this would be a compensation,” he emphasized.

Navarro pointed out that the tricolour team “has to incorporate another player into the outer game, which is now formed by Andrew Abi- cy, Guille Colom, Dylan Ennis, David Jelink and Michele Vitali.” “Five players are not enough, we will have to incorporate Reggie Upshaw as a small forward and give him minutes,” he added. “He also recalled that against BAXI Manresa they fought against “a mental trap of which we could not escape while the game passed and that made us do more mistakes than we wanted.” “When we wanted to react, we made more mistakes,” he lamented. “On the other hand, he emphasized that against Red Star we got an 11 to 0 scoreboard in one minute and 59 seconds, an avoidable fact. “With the injury of Rafa Luz, the outer attack was much lowered, we arrived with players missing and we were unable to play as usual,” he asserted. “We can not be relaxed not for one minute,” he emphasized.

In this critical line was also the player of MoraBanc, Shayne Whittington, who explained that “we want to be ourselves again and we want to return to victories.” This statement came after the defeats against Baxi Manresa and Red Star. “It was a tough defeat, we would have had to win because we are on the last game and we beat ourself very critical. Not only were the missed passes, but we also did not do well on rebounding, there should be better.” “We made mistakes that cost us an expensive price, but we had opportunities to win,” he said.

IMPROVE IN THE REBOUND // On the other hand, Whittington reiterated that coaches “have recently done a good job on how to rebound in attack and defence” and said that “it is more of a thing about players than coaches.” “We have to make a mind clearing to be prepared to compete better,” he said.

Despite this statement, Navarro clarified that “when a player takes a mistake there is always a part that is the manager’s fault” and said that “this is a role sport” and that “if none made mistakes, this would be a compensated sport because everything would be perfect.”

The M-series will start on 8 and 9 December with more vehicles

The 14th edition of the prestigious competition has three new categories and new schedules

The new Crédit Andorra G-Series season will start on 8 and 9 December 2018. Therefore, 22 years after the first ice car race was organized in Pas de la Casa’s circuit in 1996, it celebrates its fourteenth edition with important new features.

Next season, in addition to the G-categories (Prototypes G and Tourism G) and G-series (2 GIAND single-seater), there will be room for three new categories in two days of competition each event.

As a novelty, after the success of the race held last winter, this season is intended to accommodate a greater number of vehicles, opening the range of categories so that drivers and teams have greater possibilities to participate with different types of vehicles. In this way, in addition to the usual G3 and G2, this season there will be three new categories: Drive Wheels, Car Cross and Side by Side.

The 2019 Migu Run World Series announced its calendar earlier this week and Skyrace Comapedrosa will be held on 28 July 2019. The dates were announced along with the new season ranking to determine the best Skyrunner in the world. The Skyrace Comapedrosa will be part of the circuit of fifteen races in 11 countries. In addition, this year, there are five new races.

On the other hand, there will also be a separate event, the Sky Masters, a race in which the best athletes of the season will compete against each other. Each event will begin on 20 April with a new race in Japan. “With five new races, the positive aspect of their gest is that we have extended the season by 40 minutes. “It’s hard to focus on the positive aspects, we have to work on the negatives and do better”, he reiterated. He also emphasized the excellent chemistry with the teammates.
